EXPERT

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 5.—The plan of Thaw's attorneys to show that the prisoner's belief concerning the practices of Stanford White and other rich men, with young girls, were not as the state holds, merely delusions of a disordered mind, was exposed today by the introduction of the testimony of David N. Carvalho, a handwriting expert employed by Thaw during his first trial.

Carvalho said that 68 letters alleged to have been written by White to young women, had been pronounced genuine by him. The witness told of Thaw's having discussed a letter from White to a woman designated as "May." The witness said the girl told him him she burned the letter, fearing her father would kill White and herself if he found the missive. The letter was admitted as evidence after a strong protest by District Attorney Jerome. Carvalho then said Sue Parker had made a sworn statement about events alleged to have taken place between herself and White. She offered Thaw letters said to have been written her by White for $5000. The letters were finally bought for $500.

This woman's affidavit, Carvalho said, described in detail how White had taken her to a place known as "Eagle's Nest" when 17 years old, given her wine and ruined her or attempted to. When asked why she was willing to tell this story, the woman said "he took from me more than I got from him. Now he is dead and I am destitute and feel justified in selling the letters for what I can get."

Thaw then identified the letters. When cross-examined by Jerome, Carvalho said the letters were not obscene and contained nothing to prove absolutely the manner of the girl's downfall. Jerome arose to cross-examine him with an expression of menace.

"You'd better let sleeping dogs lie, Mr. Jerome," exclaimed Carvalho, excitedly.

"If you want to call yourself a dog I take the word from your own lips," responded Jerome but nevertheless he changed his manner of interrogations. Carvalho said Thaw impressed him as rational during his first trial.

CASES DECIDED BY CHIEF JUSTICE MILLS

Yesterday and today have been busy days in the chambers of Chief Justice William J. Mills, for besides hearing the law in the divorce case of Felonsal Shoble de Mares vs. Balta-zar Mares, the judge gave decisions in three important cases.

The first case was that of J. W. McGinnies vs. William Murphy, this being a case from Union county, No. 820. The judgment in this case is given for the plaintiff, for the sum of $433.98. This judgment was given by default, the defendant not appearing. It appears that the plaintiff and defendant entered into the liquor business about May 1, 1908, in the city of Clayton, Union county. They afterwards sold out their business and this suit was brought to adjust certain differences existing between the partners, which resulted in the plaintiff receiving judgment in the sum above named.

The second case was that of the Territory vs. J. C. Hill, another Union county case. This suit was to collect taxes on certain unimproved lots in Clayton, which were delinquent. The district attorney for the county of Union, maintained that the delinquent taxes be adjusted for the sum of $350, and judgment was entered for that amount.

The third case was that of David B. Kimble vs. William H. Bradbury, No. 3,121, Colfax county. The judgment in this case was dated August 5th, and went to the plaintiff by default. It is for the sum of $130.56, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent from date of judgment, until the full amount is paid. The costs also went to the defendant. It seems that the defendant gave to the plaintiff a note on November 28, 1905, which was payable on May 1, 1906, at the Miami County National Bank, at Paola, Kansas. The amount of this note was for $100, with interest at ten per cent. Attorney E. C. Crampton, of Raton appeared for the plaintiff.

CHICAGO FACES BIG STREET CAR STRIKE

Chicago, Aug. 5.—With ten thousand street car men voting today on the question of a walkout, the attitude of the traction company and city officials was that of hope that a strike will be avoided by compromise.

The referendum began at 4 o'clock this morning, and it is expected that the men will vote in favor of a strike. President T. E. Mitten, of the Chicago city railroad, has entered into negotiations with the employees of the Calumet and South Chicago Street Railway company, looking toward an increased scale, and the trouble may be averted in that quarter, at least.

The arrival of H. L. Burgeff, a professional strikebreaker, who figured in the recent Philadelphia struggle, seemed significant. Burgeff said that he had been asked to come to Chicago by the presidents of the street railway companies and that he thought he could handle the situation with 3,500 men.

M., and inspect the Elephant Butte dam, thence to El Paso, Texas, where he will be on October 18. From El Paso he will go to Denver.

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 5.—This city is suffering from a serious shortage of food today as the result of the general labor strike. The stock of bread is almost exhausted and meat is so expensive that only the rich can purchase it. The strikers, thousands of whom are camping out, are living principally on fish caught by themselves. Soldiers are distributing milk in limited quantities to preserve the lives of babies. There is no ice. Paupers from the state institutions have replaced the striking grave diggers and undertakers and funerals are held under military escort. The corpses have to be carried on stretchers, as no hearses are obtainable. Gas and electric light plants are guarded by land and sea, following an alleged attempt to dynamite the city gas works. Work has also ceased at the Gottenburg slaughter houses.

New York, Aug. 5.—James J. Jeffries sailed for Carlsbad, Germany, today.

PUEBLO HIGHWAYMAN IS IDENTIFIED AS MURDERER

Investigations of the past twenty-four hours by Chief of Police Ben Coles make it practically certain that C. C. Collins, alias Perkins, the crook convicted of holding up a street car at Pueblo, Colo., is the murderer of James Baker, the restaurant employee who was shot and killed in this city on the morning of July 23. The district judge at Pueblo, has deferred sentence on Collins for the crime he committed there, until August 7th, in order to give the authorities in this city a chance to clinch him for the murder here, for which the penalty would be much greater.

Almost Positively Identified
Collins, as he gives his name, has been almost positively identified by persons in this city. R. D. Davidson, of the Wells-Fargo Express office, says that he cashed an express money order for a man giving his name as C. C. Perkins, about July 21. Davidson has identified the picture of Collins sent Chief Coles by Sheriff F. E. McMillan, of Pueblo, as that of Perkins.

In addition, O. W. White, night cook at the Meridian restaurant, where Baker was killed, has also identified the picture of Collins, even to the minute description of the clothes he wore. White says that Collins was the smallest of the three men who made four different visits to the restaurant on the night of the murder, on one pretext or another. White's description tallies without a single discrepancy with that given by the Pueblo officers and is corroborated by a Santa Fe railway fireman, who was in the restaurant on Railroad avenue on the night of the killing, during one of the visits of the suspicious characters.

Revolver Important Clue
Chief Coles has been working overthe time when Collins is to be sentenced for the Pueblo crime, sentence having been postponed until then in order to give the local authorities a chance to prove his connection with the Baker murder.

Willing to Surrender Collins
In a letter to Chief Coles, Sheriff McMillan goes into some detail, he acting on advice from Special Santa Fe Officer E. C. Bloxon, of this city, who formerly was a deputy sheriff under the Colorado officer, and who first opened up correspondence in the case, at the request of Chief Coles. Sheriff McMillan says if it can be established that Collins was here on the night of the Baker murder and other details connecting him with the crime proved, then he is ready to turn him over to the San Miguel county officers. As has already been said the time is short for action, hence prompt steps must be taken, if the murder of Baker is to be avenged.

BOOSTING NEW MEXICO
VETERAN FOR CHAPLAIN

R. J. Whittleton, a prominent Grand Army man of Washington, has written to the National Tribune, the official organ of the G. A. R., urging all old soldier organizations to support Rev. Thomas Harwood, of Albuquerque, for the office of chaplain-in-chief. The letter was published in this week's issue of the Tribune. Rev. Harwood has several times before been an active candidate for this high honor in G. A. R. circles and it is believed that this year he will win out.

FIRE LOSS AT MINING
CAMP REACHES $10,000

Silver City, N. M., Aug. 5.—Further details of the big fire at Cooney Monday show that the loss will be fully $10,000 with no insurance. A dance was held in the old Cooney store building Monday evening and it is supposed that the candles used for illumination were left burning and set fire to the building. The building was entirely destroyed along with Ward's saloon and butcher shop and Batches's store.

HEAD OF THEOSOPHISTS
SAYS CHRIST IS COMING

New York, Aug. 3.—Mrs. Annie Besant, head of the Theosophical Society and successor of Mme. Blavatsky, who arrived in this country from her home in India Saturday, has announced her belief that Christ will soon make another personal visit on earth. She said that the spirit of Christ would manifest itself through the specially fitted physical body of some western person, possibly a woman, but more than likely a man.

MILLIONAIRE RIDES
HORSE INTO SALOON

New York, Aug. 5.—Frank Jay Mackey, the California millionaire, has introduced the classic western pastime of riding a horse into a saloon, in England. As the result of a wager, Mackey rode a horse into a hotel around the billiard table thence to the police station, where he paid a $10 fine. It was a profitable experiment as the wager was a large one.

LIQUOR IMPORTERS ARE ANXIOUS TO EVADE DUTY

New York, Aug. 5.—The wireless offices are besieged by importers who offer big bonuses to steamship captains now on the Atlantic for quick passages. Thousands of barrels of imported wines and brandies are now on the ocean and an attempt is being made to have them entered before the increase in duty takes effect. It will mean a small fortune to the importers.

PRIESTS IN MOROCCO PREACHING HOLY WAR

Alhucemas, Morocco, Aug. 5.—The Riffs, preaching a holy war, have revived the legend that the descendants of the Moors were driven out of Spain by Ferdinand and Isabella and that they are now destined to drive the Spanish out of Africa and conquer Spain. The priests say the time for the fulfillment of this has arrived and urge a war to regain Alhambra.

Moors Attack Convoy

TARIFF BILL IS NOW LAW

EXECUTIVE

SPECIAL SESSION CLOSSES

FINAL ADJOURNMENT OF CON-GRESS IS EXPECTED LATE TONIGHT

Washington, Aug. 5.—The program for congress today included the adoption of the conference tariff report, passage of the tariff bill, the adoption of a joint resolution revising the leather schedule in the senate and house; the adoption of a joint resolution interpreting the drawback resolution with a free cotton bagging rider and the final adjournment of the special session.

It is doubted if the program can be carried through in the limited time. The agreement is that the leather amendment will go through both houses, with slight alteration, and that the McCumber provision, with free cotton bagging attached, will go through the senate, but it is not expected it will be adopted by the house.

Senator Dolliver, the first speaker, defended his course as a republican, in contending for a reduction in the tariff and attacked the necessity of bargaining with the men in control of the senate to secure the protection of his constituents.

The senate adopted the conference report at 2 o'clock by a vote of 47 to 31, then took up the concurrent resolution, reducing the rates in the leather schedule. This was adopted at 3 o'clock.

The senate and house adopted the concurrent resolution reducing the duty on leather goods. The senate adopted McCumber's drawback resolution, with its free cotton bagging rider, but it was rejected by the house.

President Taft signed the bill at 5:06 p. m. and it is now law.

RESUMED AT ANNAPOLIS

Davis, their counsel, arrived last night from Washington, determined, they said, to fight to the bitter end to remove the stigma of suicide from the name of Lieutenant James N. Sutton, Mrs. Sutton's son. They will make their effort before the naval board of inquiry, which resumed the investigation of young Sutton's death today.

Lieutenant Harold H. Utley, and Surgeon Frank C. Cook, who returned Tuesday from the Mediterranean, reported at the naval academy last night. They will be principal witnesses for the navy.
